

Elder Care Law

Saturday, March 22, 2014

9:00 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

Speakers: Rachel A. Kabb-Effron, Esq. and Kelli Kay Perk, Esq.

There are many myths about regarding Medicaid and Veterans benefits eligibility. This CLE will detail the complex eligibility criteria for Medicaid for elderly clients, both in and out of nursing homes. The program will detail strategies commonly used by elder law attorneys to protect assets legally. The CLE will also cover the Veterans Benefits available to elders facing chronic care, and their intersection with the Medicaid system. Even those who are not an elder law attorney, knowing what pitfalls to avoid in advising an increasingly aging population will give the attorney valuable information.

This program will further delve into the subject of elder care with the issue of elder abuse – what constitutes elder abuse, neglect (including self-neglect) and financial exploitation, how to recognize the “red flags” of elder abuse, the duty to report, and what measures Adult Protective Services can take under APS law and/or guardianship law, to reduce the risk to vulnerable older adults.

As families and clients age and begin to face nursing home stays and chronic disease management, knowing the way the long-term care system works is critical. When a loved one or client goes into a nursing home, they do not always understand their rights under federal and state law within that system.
