Professor Doron Kalir Selected as Dean Stapleton Award for Faculty Excellence Recipient

CSU Cleveland-Marshall College of Law Professor Doron Kalir was nominated by Dean Lee Fisher and has been selected by the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association as the 2022 Dean Wilson G. Stapleton Award for Faculty Excellence recipient. He will receive his award at the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association Annual Luncheon on May 26.

The award is named for CSU C|MJLAW Hall of Fame member Dean Wilson G. Stapleton '34, who served the law school for 32 years as a faculty member and later as dean.

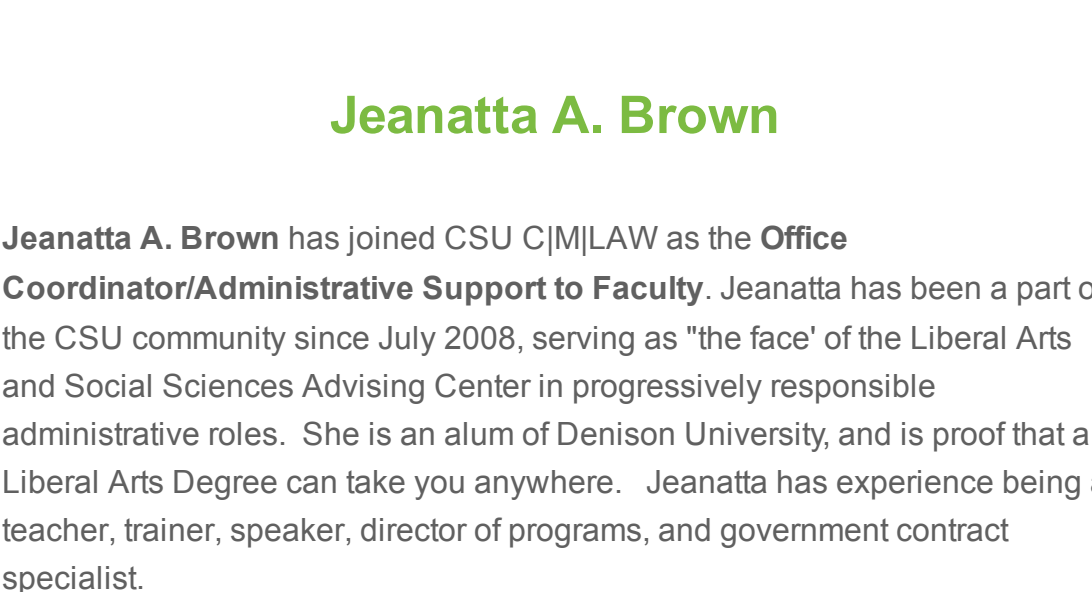

"It is truly a tremendous honor for me to be even considered for the Award, let alone winning it," said Kalir.

Professor Kalir joined the CSU C|MJLAW faculty in 2012. He has recently been quoted as a legal expert on the Supreme Court and its decisions by several national publications including Newsweek and Business Insider.

Kalir directs and teaches in the law school's Appellate Practice Clinic, where students represent underprivileged communities, in addition to teaching Contracts.

Under Professor Kalir's direction, the Appellate Practice Clinic has experienced tremendous success, including winning its last three appeals with the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals and several others before the 8th District Court of Appeals.

CSU C|MJLAW Welcomes New Staff Members

CSU C|MJLAW is delighted to welcome new members to the CSU C|MJLAW staff, Administrative Assistant Natalie Andrews, Office Coordinator/Administrative Support to Faculty Jeanatta A. Brown, Technology and Research Services Librarian Edward Koltonski, Administrative Assistant Rosemary Nugent and Administrative Assistant Suzanne Slimak.

Natalie Andrews

Natalie Andrews has joined CSU C|MJLAW as an Administrative Assistant. Natalie is originally from Seattle and like a true Pacific northwest native, she loves cloudy, rainy overcast days and coffee. Natalie majored in music and before working at CSU, worked in the library at the Cleveland Institute of Music. She went to graduate school at CSU and always wanted to continue working in academia.

What has impressed you in your time at CSU C|MJLAW so far?

"I have enjoyed meeting the staff, faculty and students and am impressed by everyone's warmth and kindness. I have especially loved getting to know the professors, who I find very inspiring."

Jeanatta A. Brown

Jeanatta A. Brown has joined CSU C|MJLAW as the Office Coordinator/Administrative Support to Faculty. Jeanatta has been a part of the CSU community since July 2008, serving as "the face" of the Liberal Arts and Social Sciences Advising Center in progressively responsible administrative roles. She is an alum of Denison University, and is proof that a Liberal Arts Degree can take you anywhere. Jeanatta has experience being a teacher, trainer, speaker, director of programs, and government contract specialist.

What has impressed you in your time at CSU C|MJLAW so far?

"I have been impressed that I have seen the 'Learn Law, Live Justice' motto exemplified in the actions of Dean Fisher and the faculty. I have seen the motto demonstrated in the words that have been spoken and in the content of webinars and events. I told Dean Fisher that watching him has motivated me to do more than my best to be of service to C|MJLAW and the passionate students who are served here."

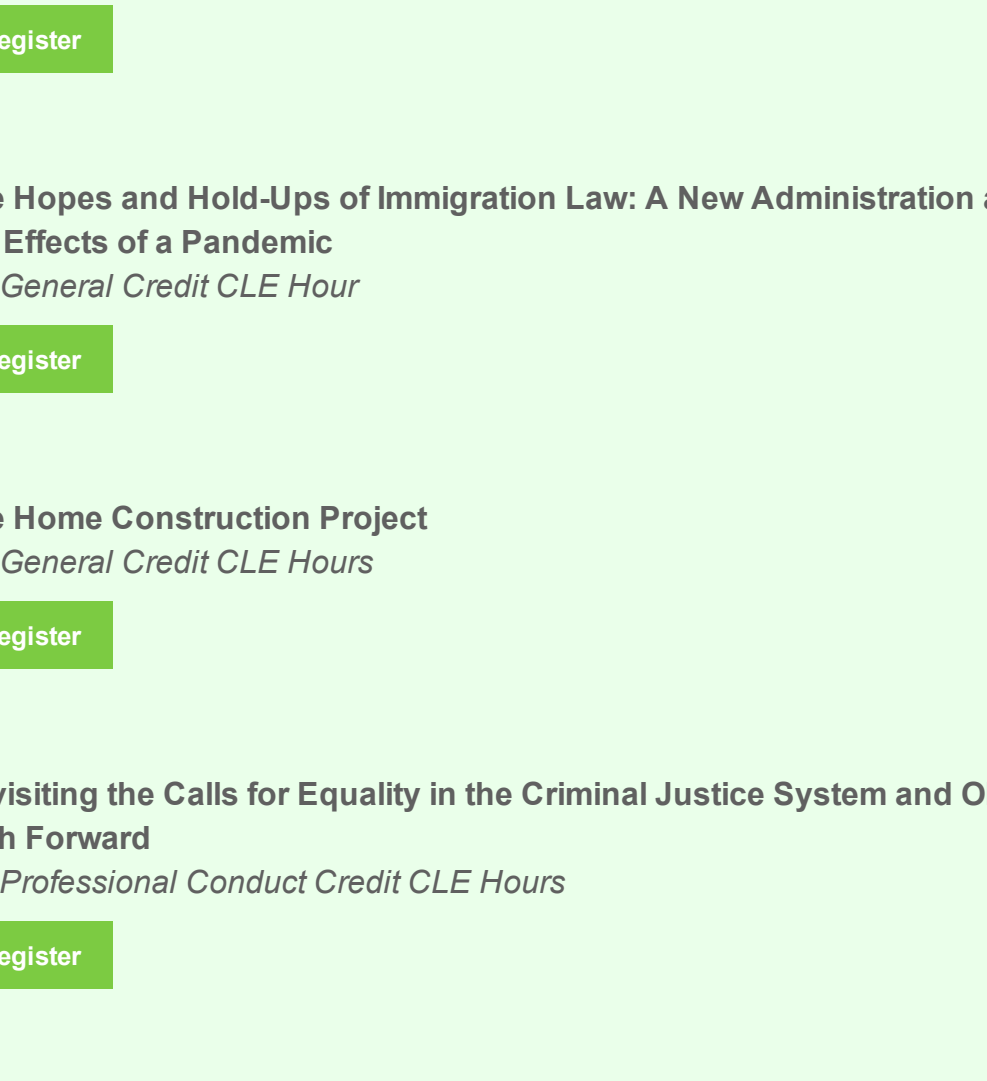

Edward Koltonski

Edward Koltonski has joined CSU C|MJLAW as the Technology and Research Services Librarian. Edward holds masters' degrees in history and library/information science. Prior to coming to CSU C|MJLAW, he worked as the business subject specialist for a public library and as a business researcher for a finance technology company. An avid interest in technology from a young age has left two questions constantly in the back of his mind, "Can technology be used for this? Will using technology make doing this better?"

What attracted you to this position at CSU C|MJLAW?

"I was really drawn to C|MJLAW by the uniqueness of the position and its purpose. Technology has gone beyond being pervasive, it is now clearly defining the law and practice in ways that are unlikely to lessen over time. Being able to help those in the legal profession develop new skills and understanding was too interesting to pass up."

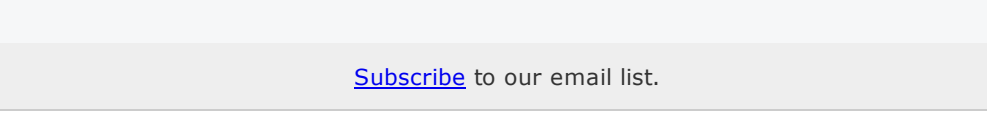

Rosemary Nugent

Rosemary Nugent has joined CSU C|MJLAW as an Administrative Assistant. She previously spent more than 20 years working in public libraries.

What attracted you to this position at CSU C|MJLAW?

"I was attracted to this position because of the reputation and rich history of the law school. The quality and longevity of staff, and the collegial atmosphere here are all impressive."

Suzanne Slimak

Suzanne Slimak has joined CSU C|MJLAW as an Administrative Assistant, having previously worked at CSU for nine years. Suzanne started out as a receptionist in Human Resources in 2013 and then moved to the Benefits team as a Benefits Specialist in 2016 before joining C|MJLAW earlier this year. Suzanne has always been interested in the law and has a certificate in Paralegal Studies.

What has impressed you in your time at CSU C|MJLAW so far?

"Everyone is so welcoming and helpful here. I feel like I already knew everyone and there was no awkward transition. You can tell the students are the top priority and it shows from the top on down. They seem so appreciative of everything this school does for them."
